

Information on Sex Offender Registration

Oregon law regarding sex offenders was passed to assist law enforcement in identifying offenders and preventing offenders from committing future crimes.

The law requires that:

- After being convicted of certain sexual offenses, an offender is required to register in the state of Oregon.
- This is a lifetime registration.
- If an offender moves to Oregon from out of the state, he or she is required to register within 10 days.
- An offender is required to report any changes of address.
- Unless a change of address is reported, an offender is required to register once annually, within 10 days before or after their birthday.
