What do I do when someone says YES?

1. Thank them profusely!

   Our first reaction should always be gratitude! This most important thing to relay is thanks.

2. Share the impact their gift will make.

$10.00 - Provides comfort items for a child's medical or therapy appointment.

$25.00 - Provides supplies for one medical exam.

$50.00 - Provides funding for 5 people to be trained in preventing child sexual abuse.

$100.00 - Provides one trauma-informed therapy session for a child.

$250.00 - Provides an interview for a child who has been referred to us for concerns of abuse.

$500.00 - Provides a comprehensive medical exam for a child with suspicious physical injuries.

$1,000.00 - Provides 3 months of trauma-informed therapy for one family.

3. Ask if they'd prefer to set up a schedule on their own or have us contact them and take whatever information aligns with that choice.

   The Pledge Card provided will direct you which part to fill out depending on if they'd rather set up monthly gifts on their own or have Moriah reach out to them.

4. Ask if they have any further questions about Liberty House that you can answer or find the answer too.

   The best question you can ask is what part of Liberty House (The Clinic, Counseling Center, or Prevention) they are most passionate and interested in so that we can send stories, statistics, and updates about those areas to them.

5. Let Moriah know that a friend/family member/coworker/etc. is planning to get started so she's ready and aware!

   This way, if someone is interested but forgets to reach out, we don't lose track of them and your hard work!

6. Text them when you get home and thank them again for their gift!

   Beginning and ending with thanks is the best practice 😊

7. A week after their gift, shoot them an email, give them a call, or write them a handwritten thank you card to thank them again.

   We want each new donor to feel so incredibly welcomed and appreciated and it will mean so much to hear from both us and from the friend that connected them to us!
